My dear siblings,

My heart is heavy and my spirit is broken. As I write to you today, a river of tears flow from my eyes. I hope you will be able to feel my pain and hear the sound of my voice as mother reads out this letter to you my beloved.

I know we have all been through so much since we lost our father three years ago. I know that his absence has left a void in each of our lives differently, but we cannot continue down this destructive path of gross self neglect that you have chosen.

Opindi, you were once my rock, my support in times of need. But seeing you succumb to drugs and gambling breaks my heart. Do you still remember when you used to help me with my how-work assignments? You have so much potential my brother, so much to offer the world. Please, I beg of you, seek help and turn your life around.

Samie K, you are capable of so much more than being a truant. Or, don't you want to become a space scientist anymore? I know you have it in you to be a responsible boy. Whatever you do, don't forget you were the apple of dad's eye.

And Lisa, my only sister, I cannot bear to see you hang out with sugar daddies while neglecting your education. You are smart and talented, and you deserve a bright future. Please, come back to us and let us help you get back on track.

Our mother is suffering emotionally, because of our actions. Let us show her that we love and respect her. Let's support each other in making positive choices.

I believe in each and every one of you. We can do this, I know we can!

With love and hope,
Princess K

Rise up all you road users!
Be alert while on the road.
Look ahead you motorists,
For danger looms everywhere.

Bodaboda riders, a menace on roads
Pedestrians on pavements and motorists on roads
No one is safe
As they ride swiftly through the traffic jam.

Traffic police save us
Rid the city of bodaboda cyclists,
Reduce the congestion in Lambert Hospital wards
Who are victims of bodaboda accidents

Poor road users
We put you in the hands of the Lord
He will judge you fairly
But remember that your bodies have no spare parts.
